SUMMARY.

The Russian retirement, it is stated, will be continued until the troops have reached an undisclosed position.

It is admitted that the resistance at Vilna, Grodno, and Bielostock is only being continued until the evacuation is completed.

A German communique says the enemy's stubborn resistance south-east of Kovno has been broken.

Austrian advices received at Amsterdam state that the Russians have entirely evacuated Galicia.

The German propagandist campaign in Holland has met with results similar to that of Dr. Dernburg in America.

On the western front violent hand-to-hand fighting has occurred at Mario Therese for the possession of mine craters.

The French vigorously bombarded the German trenches along the Lorraine front. Grenade and bomb fighting occurred at Metzeral.

Many French aeroplanes dropped bombs in the forest of Houthlet, with marked effect.

The forest is a vast military camp, with barracks and munition depots.

Four tons of explosives were thrown on the barracks and depots. Several explosions and a great panic were noticed.

The Allies' aeroplanes bombed the German base at Bixschoote, dropping 100 bombs.

Many occupants of the front trenches were killed and wounded.

A Paris message states that the Government has prohibited the exportation of all wines.

It is understood that the Government wishes to keep all cheap wines for the troops.

The authorities in Germany threaten stern measures if dressmakers do not adopt fashions requiring less material.

It is reported from Bucharest that Austria and Germany are using every means to cause war between Bulgaria and her neighbours.

The Entente is trying to promote an understanding on the basis of Servian and Grecian concessions to Bulgaria.

Competent experts expect the German invasion of Servia to begin in a few days.

Advices have reached Rome that all Roumanian officers in Switzerland have been recalled.

All Servians from 18 to 50 years who are found have been called up.

The Austrians are reported to be massing on the Servo-Roumanian frontier.

A Turkish communique says: The enemy on Friday made land and sea attacks at Anafarta and almost our right wing.

The attacks were entirely unsuccessful, and were repulsed, with severe losses.

It is stated that the Germans have established three munition factories in Turkey, but that all are inadequate.

The Russian wheat crop is estimated at 27,000,000 bushels.

General Smuts, in addressing the Transvaal Boers, continent, said the recruits were going to fight for a noble holy cause.

A calmer feeling prevails in South Wales. Many meetings of miners held on Sunday favored a continuance of work.

The Prime Minister yesterday issued an appeal in connection with the war loan, which closes to-day.

"Australia's sons in the fight have done their duty bravely; cheer them by doing yours," runs the appeal.

The Government was asked by the leader of the Opposition in the House of Representatives to postpone the Referendum.

Mr. Fisher replied that the referendum would not weaken, but strengthen Australia in the present crisis.

"For that reason we regret we are unable to supply with the suggestion of the leader of the Opposition," he added.

The Federal Attorney-General presided over a conference of representative men interested in the metals industry.

From September 6 transactions in metals will have to be registered with the Attorney-General until the exchange is formed.

Although yesterday was the final day for Federal Federal land tax returns, only one-fourth the estimated number had been received.

The third contingent of wounded and sick returned soldiers was accorded an enthusiastic welcome on arrival yesterday.

Three of the wounded men were blind. They were inseparable on board ship, and a warm friendship sprung up between them.

An important meeting of business men was held yesterday to consider the Federal income tax proposals.

It was decided to urge the necessity of so distributing the burden of taxation as not to unduly harass capital.

The Employers' Federation takes strong exception to some clauses in the Labour bills to be brought before the State Parliament.

The Federation is of opinion that the provisions if carried into effect would be detrimental to trading, and industrial interests.

Regulations covering the revised telephone rates were tabled in the House of Representatives yesterday.

A slight alteration has been made in the flat rate, but the rent is not higher than £4. All calls are 1d, and public telephone calls 2d.

A number of hitherto unapplicable beauty spots in the vicinity of the Katoomba and Leura waterfalls are to be opened up.

A new pass destination has been made, leading from the Federal Pass. It has been named The Dardanelles.

Bottles the overlander, has just complete a ride of 7000 miles through the country exposed by the Burke and Wills' Expedition.

He gathered some interesting stories from the old blacks relating to the manner in which the explorers met their deaths.

A commencement has been made to complete the Sydney railway station.

The work of erecting the upper stories will be carried out by day labour.

Bishop Barlow, who resigned the See of Southern last March, died at St. Paul's Rectory, Cooma, yesterday, in his 80th year.

The question of the cultivation of medicinal plants rendered scarce by the war has been taken up by the Royal Society.

To-morrow is Wattle Day. The Soldiers' Club, the principal military centre, and hospitals will be decorated with wattle.

Mr. Estell received a deputation yesterday on the subject of providing agricultural and horticultural employment for women.

A fire broke out in a house in Penkivil-street, Bondi, early yesterday morning.

Several of the rooms were damaged before the fire was extinguished by the brigades from the eastern suburbs.

A boy, named Eric Gillies, while riding a bicycle in North Sydney, collided with a motor car, and received a fractured skull.

He died shortly after admission to the Mater Misericordiae Hospital.

The 31st casualty list issued last night contains 197 names. There were 66 deaths.

The list of wounded is a long one, totalling 28 officers and 546 men. Of this number 42 are serious cases.

At the Homebush sales yesterday the supply of sheep was light to moderate. The market was weaker.

Cattle were in light supply, and the demand was keen. Prices were firm.

The tone of the market on the Sydney Stock Exchange yesterday was of a steady character, and prices were firm

The mining market was firm, but business was restricted. Buyers offered improved rates in the copper, silver, and tin sections.

In the general markets a good distributing trade was done at generally unaltered rates.

The arrivals of butter from the local producing centres continue to show an improvement.

Bacon consignments were short. Cheese stocks were also light, and were insufficient to cope with the strong demand.

Forecast.—Generally fine, with cold, frosty and foggy night; an unsettled, showery change approaching the south-western districts.

THE NEW DUST COATS

ARE

SMART AND PRACTICAL.

As might be expected these times, the vogue for Military effects is evidenced in nearly every style of dress. This is particularly true with regard to the new Dust Coats—those useful garments so needed during the Summer. Only that they are in Light Silks instead of Khaki Cloth they resemble the smart overcoat of the military man, and with their full skirts allow great comfort in walking and sitting. Many are fashioned with collars, which can be worn high for smartness or turned down if desired. Carried out in Amam, China, or Tussore Silks, they are extremely light and cool, and provide the best means of saving one's dainty frocks from dust, etc. Values, too, in keeping with the times, are moderate. Note the following:—

PRACTICAL DUST COAT IN PANAMA CLOTH of cream shade. Inset sleeves, finished turn-back cuffs, belt round waist. Coat may be worn open or closed to throat. PRICE, 55/.

EXCEEDINGLY SMART COAT in superior quality Assam Silk. Skirt is made in flared style, with pleats from hips. Wide belt round waist. Buttoning high to neck or open, as desired. A very smart coat. PRICE, 85/.

DELIGHTFUL COAT FOR MOTORING, in Brown "Gloria" Silk. Cut in Magyar style, belt round waist, large patch pockets. Coat can be worn open or closed to throat. PRICE, 84/.

DUST COAT OF CASEMENT CLOTH, made in smart Military style. Raglan sleeves, finished turn-back cuffs, wide belt round waist, two pockets. Special value. PRICE, 29/6.

DRESSY DUST COAT OF CHINA SILK, in Cream shade, well cut, with wide Raglan sleeves, Military collar, which can be worn high or turned down. Coat may be worn buttoned to neck or open. Pleated at back and wide belt round hips. PRICE, 87/6.

SMART TAILOR-CUT COAT, in light-weight Assam silk, ¾ length, Sports style. Raglan sleeves, turnback cuffs, and folded sash, finished crochet buttons. PRICE, 45/.

MANTLE DEPARTMENT, SECOND FLOOR.

THE SPRING BLOUSE.

STYLES THAT SHOW UNUSUAL PERFECTION IN CUT, QUALITY, AND VALUE.

Everyone is considerably interested in Farmer's wonderful assortment of Spring Blouses. Never since the blouse was first introduced as an item of woman's dress has it been shown in such beauty or variety. Even the simplest things show an extraordinary degree of perfection; whilst where more scope is allowed, as in the Ninon blouses mentioned below, the designers have made the very most of their opportunity.

VERY FINE ORGANDI MUSLIN BLOUSE, long Roll collar and revers, Raglan sleeves inset with narrow beading, and turnback pointed cuffs. Picot edged. PRICE, 10/6.

EMBROIDERED CAMBRIC SHIRT BLOUSE, fronts and collar are daintily embroidered in Black and White, cuffs and collar hemstitched, and Raglan sleeves inset with hemstitching. PRICE, 11/6.

SMART SPOT SILK BLOUSE, good quality Jap. Silk, White ground with Navy or Black spots. Made with high pointed or Roll collar, Raglan or inset sleeves. Finished self buttons. PRICE, 12/6.

VERY DAINTY NINON BLOUSE over fine White spotted Net. Smart Roll collar, having points embroidered in floral design. Revers and turnback cuffs embroidered to match; fronts finished hemstitching. Inset sleeves. Colours: Shell Pink, Saxe, Sky, Ivory, Navy. PRICE, 16/6.

EXCEEDINGLY SMART NINON BLOUSE, over fine plain Net. Long Raglan sleeves finished with frill of lilted Organdi, long Roll revers and collar, also finished lilted Organdi. Colours: Pink, Saxe, Black, Navy, Ivory. PRICE, 22/6.

BLOUSE DEPARTMENT, SECOND FLOOR.

WUNDERLICH CEILINGS,

MADE IN AUSTRALIA.

Equally suitable for the Cottage or Mansion, this beautiful Australian production is the most practical of all materials for interior decoration. It is non-absorbent and a fire-retardant, keeps the rooms clean and comfortable. It is easy to erect, and can be fixed by any Tradesman. Quite aside from their artistic and higienic qualities, WUNDERLICH ART METAL CEILINGS and WALL LININGS are eminently desirable, on account of their durability, and the increased value to the building in which they are installed.

Visit our Showrooms, 86 PITT-STREET, and inspect the numerous decorated examples of Australian Art Ceilings.

A SOLDIER AND A MAN.
A SOLDIER AND A MAN.
A SOLDIER AND A MAN.

YOUR SON, YOUR BROTHER,
YOUR HUSBAND,

Your nephew, your cousin, or your relation, whatever he may be, he is not only a soldier but a man, a man of right, a man of venture, a man of patriotism, a man of all the true instincts of his race, and worthy to be held in remembrance for all time. This we can help you to do in a faithful photograph enlargement, either taken from life or from any photograph you may have of him.

Before he goes the front get him to come to us and have a good photo. enlargement of himself in his uniform, or, if he has already gone to the front, send us his photograph, and get a good enlargement taken from it; then, in years to come, you will have his lifelike picture in uniform as a sure token that he did his duty as a man in the great war.

Memories are good, but a true portrait is of great aid to memory; it will always give pleasure.

WE GUARANTEE A TRUE LIKENESS.

Get one of our Two Guinea Oil Paintings, absolutely true to life. We allow one-third discount off for photos. of soldiers in uniform; that is, only 28s to pay for a life-size (or as large as we can make it from the photo.), a 20 x 16 Oil Painting, in a splendid frame complete. Send us his photo. in uniform, and get a beautiful everlasting picture and a true likeness in Oils for 28s.

IF TAKEN FROM LIFE.

If taken from life we supply the Oil Painting, as above, and 6 Cabinet Photos., for 31/6, or if a soldier in uniform for 21s.

Soldiers may be taken at our City Studios or at Liverpool Camp Studio, which has been built on an up-to-date plan, and is equal to either our own or any other city studio.

AFTER-DARK PHOTOGRAPHS.

We take Photographs on Friday and Saturday nights up till 9 o'clock quite as good as those taken in daylight, and at the same price.

LAW REPORT.

HIGH COURT.

RETROSPECTIVITY OF ACT.

The question as to whether a person could be charged with an offence alleged to have been committed antecedent to the passing of an Act forbidding such offence was argued on a motion for the quashing of an indictment by Mr. Mitchell, who, instructed by Messrs. Mark Mitchell and Forsyth, appeared for Arthur Kidman, one of the defendants in a conspiracy charge.

The case came before the Court on June 21 last, when Arthur Kidman, Frederick William Page, Arthur George O'Donnell, and Edward Leslie were charged with having conspired together, between October 29, 1914, and May 8, 1915, to defraud the Commonwealth. Page on that occasion pleaded not guilty, and the other defendants, by their counsel, moved to quash the indictment upon the following grounds:—(1) That the Act No. 6 of 1915 (Crimes Act Amendment Act), so far as its provisions are retrospective, is not within the competence of the Commonwealth Parliament. (2) That it is not within the competence of the Commonwealth Parliament to confer upon the High Court original jurisdiction in respect of offences against the common law. (3) That the Act No. 6 of 1915 does not confer upon the High Court original jurisdiction in respect of such offences. (4) That the indictment is not a matter to which the Commonwealth is a party within the meaning of section 75 of the Constitution.

The matter was referred to the Court under section 18 of the Judiciary Act.

Mr. Leverrier, K.C., Mr. Rolin, K.C., Mr. Flannery, and Mr. Windeyer, instructed by the Commonwealth Crown Solicitor, appeared on behalf of the Crown; and Mr. Barton, instructed by Messrs. Dowling, Taylor, and Macdonald, for defendant O'Donnell.

Mr. Mitchell said that the particular acts complained of were alleged to have been committed antecedent to May 7, the date on which the Act under which the defendants were charged was passed by Parliament. He argued that the Parliament of the Commonwealth had no power to pass an Act rendering a man liable to imprisonment for a breach of a provision of a statute not in operation at the time he was said to have committed the acts complained of. Further, it was not within the competence of the Federal Parliament to pass an Act rendering a man liable to greater punishment than that prescribed by law at the time the act was committed. The Federal Act provided a maximum penalty of three years' imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for conspiracy to defraud, but in Tasmania and in South Australia the maximum penalty for a similar offence was two years' imprisonment only.

Mr. Justice Isaacs: But the offence alleged here is conspiracy to defraud the Commonwealth.

Mr. Mitchell submitted that there was no expressed power in the Commonwealth Constitution to enable Parliament to pass any laws relating to crimes. The Court could not make crime.

Mr. Mitchell, continuing, his argument, claimed that a man could not commit a breach of an Act which was not in force at the time of the committal of the offence. Section 108 of the Constitution did not, in his opinion, touch the criminal responsibility of the citizen.

The Chief Justice: It sets up a new person by whom the obligation will be incurred.

Mr. Mitchell: The criminal responsibilities are to be given by the laws of the State in operation at the time the act was done.

Mr. Mitchell had not concluded his argument when the Court rose.

SUPREME COURT.

BANCO COURT.

(Before the Chief Justice, without a jury.)

CLAIM FOR A RESUMPTION.

Haerse v Commonwealth.

Mr. J. L. Campbell, K.C., Mr. L. Armstrong, and Mr. Hodgson, instructed by Mr. H. E. M'Intosh, appeared for the claimants; and Mr. Pike, Mr. Flannery, and Mr. M'Kean, instructed by the Commonwealth Crown Solicitor, for the defendant. This was an action brought by John Benjamin Haerse and Henry Joseph Haerse against the Commonwealth of Australia for the purpose of having assessed the value of 960 acres of land, about six miles to the south of Liverpool, resumed by the defendant for military purposes. The land was resumed on March 7, 1913, and the plaintiffs' case was that at the time their intention was to use the land primarily for the purpose of an orchard and vineyard, and that a small portion had already been planted with fruit trees and grape vines. They also said that the soil was admirably suited for the purpose, and valued the land at the time of resumption at £4000.

The defendant pleaded that the amount offered to the plaintiff exceeded, or was equal to, the value of the land.

It was arranged that his Honor should inspect the resumed property to-day.

NO. 1 JURY COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Pring.)

There being no appearance in the case of Griffiths and another v Steel, it was struck out.

NO. 2 JURY COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Ferguson and a jury of four.)

DISPUTE OVER A BOXING MATCH.

Smith v Baker.

Mr. Gannon, K.C., Mr. Armstrong, and Mr. Perry, instructed by Mr. W. Arnott, appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Broomfield, Mr. H. E. Manning, and Mr. Power, instructed by Mr. W. H. Drew, for the defendant. This was an action brought by Jeff Smith, professional boxer, against Reginald Leslie Baker, to recover the sum of £464 11s 9d, under an agreement of May 10 last, by which he claimed to be entitled to 25 per cent. on the gross gate receipts in a boxing match between him and Les. Darcy, at the Sydney Stadium. Plaintiff's case and the defence have already been stated.

His Honor, in summing up, said that the action was simply one of contract. The jury were not concerned at all as to the propriety or otherwise of the holding of these contests, or whether they were in the interests of the public. The simple question was whether, under the contract, plaintiff was entitled to recover the amount claimed or not.

The jury, after a little over an hour's consideration, returned a verdict for the defendant.

Mr. Armstrong applied for a stay of execution on the points of law raised in the course of the case, and more particularly as to whether the payment of £4 to plaintiff by the Stadium Company after the contest was a waiver of the defence.

His Honor granted a stay of execution upon plaintiff giving security for the payment of the costs of the action when taxed.

(Before his Honor, without a jury.)

CLAIM UNDER A POLICY.

Roeder and another v New Zealand Insurance Company, Ltd.

Dr. Brissenden and Mr. Sanders, instructed by Mr. P. M. Sanders, appeared for the plaintiffs; and Mr. Windeyer and Mr. Milner Stephen, instructed by Messrs. McLachlan and Murray, for the defendants. This was an action brought by James Olsen Roeder, John James Ferguson, and Charles Roeder, trading as Ferguson and Roeder, trade linotypers, against the New Zealand Insurance Company, Ltd., to recover the sum of £914 in respect of the total destruction of three linotype machines, etc., under a policy of insurance. Plaintiff's case was that in March, 1914, a fire occurred in their premises, in Castlereagh-street, when the linotypes and other property were damaged. Under the conditions of the policy, defendants had power, at their option, to elect to reinstate the machinery and place it in running order, and they so elected. Plaintiffs, however, contended that the defendant company did not reinstate the property within a reasonable time, and they suffered loss thereby, owing to the linotypes, etc., becoming deteriorated, and useless to them.

The defendants pleaded that they did reinstate the machines within a reasonable time, and in running order.

The action was commenced at the end of June, and was then adjourned over the winter vacation. Argument was now concluded, and his Honor reserved his decision. In the meantime, he inspected the machines at plaintiff's premises.

IN EQUITY.

(Before the Chief Judge, Mr. Justice Simpson.)

COMMONWEALTH CLOTHING CONTRACT.

Cohen and Sons, Ltd., v Goldstein and another.

Mr. Parker, instructed by Mr. H. G. F. Walker, appeared on behalf of Cohen and Sons, Ltd., clothing manufacturers, of Kent-street, Sydney, in an application for an injunction to restrain Louis Goldstein and David Goldstein, clothing manufacturers, of Sydney, from receiving from the Commonwealth Government the sum of £97 12s 3d, paid to the Government as a guarantee for the due fulfilment of a contract for the manufacture by defendants of certain service coats for the Defence Department, and to restrain the defendants from receiving from the Government the balance of £323, due in respect of the contract.

Mr. E. R. Cohen appeared for the defendants.

By consent, the interim injunction, which his Honor had previously granted, was continued till September 6.

(Before Mr. Justice Harvey.)

ESTATE OF JOHANNAH BUSH, DECEASED.

Turner and others v Chamberlain and others.

This was a suit in which the plaintiffs, Elizabeth Turner, Mary Teresa Turnbull, and Ellen Richardson, prayed, among other things, that the estate of Johannah Bush, deceased, be administered under the direction of the Court; that it be declared that a certain cottage in Robert-street, St. Peters, and the furniture therein, still formed part of the assets of the estate of Johannah Bush; and that the cottage, land, and furniture be sold, and the proceeds distributed in accordance with the will of the testatrix.

Mr. S. A. Thompson, instructed by Mr. F. Lynne Rolin, appeared for the plaintiffs; and Mr. Hardwick, instructed by Mr. R. T. J. Lawes, for the defendants, Joseph Chamberlain, Sarah Chamberlain, and Henry Francis Bush.

The defence was that the cottage was sold in 1902 to the defendant, Sarah Chamberlain, for a proper consideration, and that Joseph Chamberlain had no further accounts to file from that date.

His Honor held that the sale of the cottage had not been established, and the proper inference was that the sale went off in 1902. The defendant, Joseph Chamberlain, having agreed, by his defence, to retire from the executorship, the Public Trustee was appointed in his stead. There would be a reference to the Master to take accounts. Plaintiffs' costs were ordered to come out of the estate; no order was made as to the defendants' costs.

IN DIVORCE.

(Before Mr. Justice Gordon.)

STONE v STONE.

Jessie Burgess Stone (formerly Sandilands), for whom Mr. Woolcott appeared, applied for a divorce from Henry Charles Stone on the ground of desertion. The parties were married at Woollahra, according to the rites of the Congregational Church, on September 9, 1901.

His Honor granted a decree nisi returnable in six months.

WARDROP v WARDROP.

Walter Thomas Wardrop sought a divorce from Elizabeth Wardrop (formerly Bell) on the ground of desertion. Mr. A. G. Young appeared for the petitioner.

The parties were married according to the rites of the Church of England, at Burwood, on September 1, 1911.

A decree nisi was granted, returnable in six months.

WHITTAKER v WHITTAKER.

Matilda Ann Whittaker (formerly Green) petitioned for the dissolution of her marriage with Alfred Whittaker on the ground of desertion. The parties were married at Back Creek, Cowra, according to the rites of the Church of England on January 27, 1904. A decree nisi was granted, returnable in six months. Mr. L. G. B. Cadden appeared for the petitioner.

HOLTON v HOLTON

Beatrice Louise Holton (formerly Cross) applied for a divorce from Percy Holton on the ground of desertion. The parties were married at Wellington, New Zealand, on August 13, 1902. Mr. Mocatta, instructed by Messrs. Perkins, Stevenson, and Co., appeared for the petitioner.

His Honor granted a decree nisi, returnable in six months.

LAWRENCE v LAWRENCE.

Mary Jane Lawrence (formerly Rogers) was the petitioner in a suit for the dissolution of her marriage from John Thomas Lawrence. The parties were married at St. Barnabas' Church, Sydney, according to the rites of the Church of England, on March 29, 1879.

A decree nisi was granted, returnable in six months. Mr. Curtis, instructed by Mr. W. C. Clegg, appeared for the petitioner.

KILLION v KILLION.

Alice Elizabeth Killion (formerly Spinks) sought a divorce from Frederick Roland Killion on the ground of desertion. The parties were married on September 15, 1905, at Casino, according to the rites of the Presbyterian Church.

A decree nisi was granted, returnable in six months. Mr. Woolcott appeared for the petitioner.

MARSH v MARSH.

Sidney Frank Marsh petitioned for a divorce from Evelyn Louise Marsh (formerly Bulk) on the ground of desertion, by not having complied with a decree of the Court for restitution of conjugal rights. The parties were married on June 10, 1913, at North Sydney, according to the rites of the Church of England.

Mr. Monahan, instructed by Messrs. Harold T. Morgan and Morgan, appeared for the petitioner. His Honor granted a decree nisi, returnable in six months.

HARON v HARON.

George Oliver Haron sought a divorce from Maggie Haron (formerly Fitzgerald) on the ground of misconduct with William Smith, who was joined as co-respondent. Mr. Curtis, instructed by Mr. J. J. Carroll, appeared for the petitioner.

The parties were married in December, 1893, by the District Registrar at St. Leonards.

His Honor granted a decree nisi, returnable in six months; co-respondent to pay the costs of the suit.

THOMPSON v THOMPSON.

Matilda Thompson (formerly Findlay) obtained a decree for judicial separation from Henry George Thompson on the ground of cruelty. A cross petition by the husband for restitution of conjugal rights was dismissed by his Honor.

The parties were married on January 14, 1906, in England, according to the rites of the Church of England. Mr. Boyce and Mr. Hardwick, instructed by Mr. Reginald Jacob, appeared for the wife; and Mr. Perry and Mr. Young, instructed by Mr. J. W. Abigail, for the husband.

IN BANKRUPTCY.

(Before the Registrar, Mr. F. H. Salusbury.)

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Sly and a jury.)

Mr. Herbert Harris, Crown Prosecutor.

CONVICTED OF MURDER.

Joseph Alexander Hamilton, 50, was charged with having murdered Alice Constance White, at Sydney, on June 13. Mr. Moriarty, instructed by Messrs. Hughes and Hughes, appeared for the defence.

Hamilton, in his defence, said that he did not know anything about the shooting, and did not know how the revolver went off. He had been maddened by the woman's conduct.

The jury returned a verdict of guilty, adding a strong recommendation to mercy, on the ground of the relationship which had existed between the prisoner and the woman for many years, and owing to the great provocation which he had received.

Sentence of death was passed.

SERIOUS ASSAULTS.

George Francis Byrne, 35, pleaded guilty to five charges of serious assaults, and was sentenced to six months' hard labour on each charge, the terms to be concurrent. His Honor said that he took a lenient view of the case on account of the good character previously borne by the prisoner.

CASE IN EQUITY COURT.

In delivering judgment in the Equity Court on the 25th inst, in the suit instituted by Nathaniel George Bull, Ernest Stanley Bull, and Henry Gorman, committee of management of the estate of the late Hannah Maria Neale, widow, of Potts Point, Sydney, against George Alexander Lees Simpson, in respect of certain mortgages amounting to £22,756 on a certain property at Pyrmont known as "Simpson's Free Stores," as security for the payment of moneys advanced to the defendant by the late Mrs. Neale, Mr. Justice Harvey made some strong remarks with regard to the defendant, Simpson. The matter was mentioned by his Honor yesterday by way of explanation.

His Honor said that since he delivered judgment in this matter on Wednesday last, he had been informed by the parties that an offer of settlement had been made by Mr. Simpson. That offer had not yet been accepted. The whole of the circumstances were not before him, but he had been told sufficient to show that Mr. Simpson had not by any means insisted on his full rights in the judgment, which he had made in his favour. On the contrary, his Honor could quite believe that the settlement proposed by Mr. Simpson might be a perfectly reasonable one. Under these circumstances, he could not help feeling that it was his duty to express his regret at having possibly been led to express himself somewhat strongly in the matter. He regretted that no mention was made at the hearing of the fact that Mr. Simpson did not intend to press in full his legal rights under the judgment. Had his Honor been so informed, he would have refrained from making those remarks, which he now found were quite unwarranted, in view of the offer of settlement that had been made, and he would have altered his order as to the defendant's costs. As considerable publicity had been given in the press to his reflections on Mr. Simpson's conduct, he trusted the same publicity would, in justice to Mr. Simpson, be given to those remarks of his.

Mr. Clive Teece, counsel for the defendant Simpson, said that with regard to what his Honor had said as to the defendant's intentions not having been brought before the Court, with all due respect to the Court, he conceived it his duty as counsel for the defendant to conduct the case on the issues placed before the Court, and not give evidence on behalf of his client, especially when that evidence, if tendered, would have been inadmissible.

His Honor added that from what he had seen in the papers it was likely that steps would be taken by the Legislature to amend the law with respect to money lending.

TUNNEL TO A BANK.

SENSATIONAL AFFAIR IN NEW ZEALAND.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Aug. 30.

A sensational attempt at bank robbery has been discovered at Eltham. Two supposedly respectable residents have been arrested on suspicion. They were charged and remanded.

Two premises are affected—the Bank of New South Wales and Wilkinson's general store. The detectives discovered elaborate preparations, indicating that the men had been working for months on a 70ft tunnel under the bank strongroom from an adjoining building. Operations had been commenced on the strongroom floor, which would have been pierced in another day. The bank manager discovered the attempt.

Clever arrangements were also carried out at Wilkinson's. A tunnel was run under the floor from the rear, where a ventilator had been converted into a sliding door. The tunnel terminated in a concealed trap-door, which was discovered after the disappearance of a quantity of goods, some of which were discovered in the tunnel.

POSTAL SERVICE.

ADMINISTRATIVE COUNCIL.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The features of the Federal Government's scheme for the future management of the Post and Telegraph Department are an administrative council and an inspector-general for the Commonwealth. Mr Spence, P.M.G., will be president of the administrative council, the secretary to the department, Mr. J. Oxenham, is to be chief executive officer, and the following are to be members:—Mr. J. Hesketh, chief electrical engineer; and Mr. G. M. Haldane, the chief accountant. An important provision is that each member of the administrative council is to have "direct access to the Minister." The duties of the administrative council are to embrace the whole of the operations of the Post and Telegraph Department. It is to be charged with the "preservation of the department throughout the Commonwealth." Subject to the Minister the administrative council is to "exercise complete jurisdiction over all departmental activities."

The duties of the inspector-general will be to exercise a general supervision over the department throughout the Commonwealth, and to see that full effect is given to the policy of the administrative council. No officer has yet been appointed to this post. It is stated that the scheme will be brought before Parliament by the Ministry this week.

Our sorrow was great, our loss hard to bear,
God knows we have lost a fond mother's care.
We mine and we mourn her, in silence unseen,
And dwell on the memory of days that have been.
We cannot forget her—we loved her too dearly
For her memory to fade from our life like a dream.
Our lips need not speak when our hearts mourn sincerely,
A mother more loving will never be seen.
Inserted by her affectionate daughters, Lily and Alice.

DRISCOLL.—In sad but loving remembrance of our darling mother and grandma, Elizabeth Driscoll, who departed this life August 31, 1912, aged 68 years.

Always, dearest mother, of you we are thinking,
Grieved to be from you apart,
In tears and grief we watched you sinking,
With a sad and aching heart.
We dream we see your dear sweet face,
And kiss your still, cold brow;
But in our aching hearts we know
We have no mother now. At rest.

COLDS AMONG OUR SOLDIERS.

Many thoughtful parents and friends are sending HEAN'S ESSENCE, the great money-saving remedy for coughs, colds, and throat troubles, to our gallant soldiers, among whom the effects of neglected colds are almost as much to be feared as the enemy's shot and shell. Regimental Quartermaster-sergeant P. H. Bosg writes:—"Hean's Essence was recommended to me by Sergt. Malley for a bad cold, which I had contracted in camp. Its efficacy was beyond all doubt, and I have pleasure in advising all my comrades who catch cold to use Hean's Essence without delay." HEAN'S ESSENCE costs only 2/. It makes one pint of the finest cough syrup—equal to 12/ worth of ordinary mixtures. Obtainable at all chemists and leading stores.

THE WAR LOAN.

To-day is the closing day for the reception of subscriptions to Australia's first war loan. To-morrow it will be too late to partake in the historic event. Let us urge while the occasion still offers that those who are favourably circumstanced should avail themselves of this unique opportunity of doing their country some good, while, at the same time, benefiting themselves. For if this loan be viewed either from the point of view of pure patriotism or of strict business it equally appeals. There is something which entirely differentiates this from all other loans that have been raised by States or Commonwealth since earliest times. It represents the necessity for self-preservation; they were founded on the mere desire for speedy development. There is no comparison between the two. In this case to borrow is not a matter of choice, it is a matter of paramount necessity. Whether borrowing on generous lines is a good thing for the State or the Commonwealth, or should be absolutely tabooed as merely calculated to place us at the mercy of the money-lender—a view that some hold—we believe that this at least is not an occasion about which there can be any doubt. The most ardent anti-borrower might join with those who genuinely believe that this country can best be developed with the aid of borrowed capital in subscribing his share to this great loan. It is a loan that will help us all to maintain our liberties, to aid us in scotching a vicious militarism which is wholly inconsistent with a democratic form of government. This loan is not a Labour party's loan, but one that is being raised for the whole people, with the consent and approbation of all. It has no party complexion. It merely happens that at this critical moment in our history a Labour Administration is at the head of affairs. It matters not what Government occupied the Treasury benches, it would have been compelled to make this same appeal to the patriotism of the wealthier and more economic sections of the people. Nor will it be made in vain. A community that can find its hundreds of thousands for various war funds is not likely to see its Government in want of what is requisite to carry out its share of this dreadful war to a satisfactory conclusion.

Why this money is required at this juncture is possibly not quite realised in detail, though all well know in a broad way what is happening. The facts are briefly these, that the Commonwealth Government, though it has made several determined efforts to increase its revenue, and in some measure has succeeded in doing so, cannot see its way without extraneous aid to finance the extraordinary war expenditure of the current year. Altogether the Treasurer needs some 74 millions for all purposes. His estimated revenue, which includes the result of the increased tariff schedule not yet agreed to by Parliament, is expected to reach but 23½ millions. This leaves a deficit of some 50 millions, which the Treasurer has to make up by asking the people of Australia to subscribe 20 millions, of which the present loan is the first instalment. The British Government has promised another 10 millions, the Federal income tax is expected to yield a further four millions, and there still remain some 16 millions to be provided for, probably by the Imperial authorities. Our necessities are thus obvious. The money must be found. If not in the form of a loan, then possibly in some more objectionable way. In time of war, and more particularly in time of a war of self-preservation, all private wealth is merely held in trust for the State, a fact that was clearly brought out in Mr. Fisher's promise to carry out our purpose to "the last man and to the last shilling." It will not be necessary to go so far as that. At least, we hope not, and if subscriptions to this loan are large enough the financial outlook will be much clearer. Since the loan was first mooted several steps have been taken to make it more popular. The difficulty of realising probate in Victoria, even if it ever had any weight, has been removed by the establishment of local registers in the various State capitals. The State Governments are busy placing the loan on the trustee lists, and our own Government has already granted this desirable privilege. The fact of income from this loan being free from both State and Federal income tax must be a material inducement to all who come within the scope of the various taxing Acts, and this has more particular application to those whose incomes are large. It would be possible to conceive of a man with a very substantial income indeed who was quite free from income tax. In recognition of his contributing towards his country's need in a time like this he deserves some special consideration, and so receives it.

POSITION IN THE BALKANS.

An interview with Sir Edwin Pears, reported in our cables this morning, gives a summary of the main factors in the problem of the Balkan States, which now seems on the point of solution. According to this statement, the Allies have had to counter the opposition of the reigning families in each of the three neutral States. In Roumania the King and in Greece the Queen is a Hohenzollern; in Bulgaria the King or Czar is an ex-officer of the Austrian Army and a Coburg by descent. It is natural that a writer who described the Bulgarian massacres to the British public and corroborated Gladstone's most eloquent speeches should distinguish between the views of the democracy and of the monarchy in each of these States. He thinks that if a vote could be taken in either Greece or Bulgaria it would be in favour of the Allies. But since he has participated in recent history, as well as in the birth and growth of the Balkan States, Sir Edwin Pears does not forget that the decisive factor will be an immediate self-interest rather than gratitude for help in the past. The main factors with Bulgarian Ministers will be two—first, the promises offered them by the Allies and the Central Powers respectively; secondly, their estimate of the result of the war. With Roumanians it will be their estimate of the ability of their army to resist German pressure; and, secondly, their satisfaction or dissatisfaction with the arrangement proposed by the Allies for the disposal of Turkish and Austrian territory after the war. All that Greece can hope for from the Central Powers is a negative gain. She can ask to be protected from the invasion of her new territories, and of Salonica, either by the Bulgarians or by Austro-German forces, and from those nameless horrors to which the Emperor has referred in his letter to the Queen. But it is only from the Allies that Greece can expect substantial gains in return for support. If they conquer Turkey Greece can ask for Smyrna and the country behind it—the home of thousands of Greeks now in exile. It is a prize which at the beginning of the year was thought to be worth 2000 square kilometres in Macedonia and a port on the Aegean. But it became more and more remote as the war dragged on, and the assistance that might have come from Greece is still lacking or, is supplied by another Power.

Sir Edwin Pears suggests that the reasons which have so far prevented the reconstitution of the Balkan League in favour of the Allies are disputes between Bulgaria and Servia, and doubts as to the future of Constantinople. It seems clear that distrust of Russia has had greater influence with Roumania than any pro-German sympathies of the King. The real ally of Germany in Roumania was the late King Carol. His successor has shown sympathy with the irredentist movement, which is anti-Austrian, or, rather, anti-Hungarian, and has appeared to give considerable help in the restriction of supplies to Turkey. But undoubtedly there have been strong parties in the country afraid to intervene without substantial assistance from Russia, and equally afraid of a victory which would give Russia complete control over the Dardanelles. Sir Edwin Pears still hopes that this rich and powerful country will be found on the side of the Allies. His hopes may be based on the declaration by Roumania and Greece that they would never allow Servia to be crushed, and are supported by the summons issued to reservists to return home. But previous experience teaches us not to place much reliance on any indications given by the present Ministry. At the end of last year we were told that a declaration by Roumania was certain. In February the "Times" correspondent at Bucharest announced that the irredentist agitation had subsided for the present. The date of the announcement was coincident with a setback to the Russians in Galicia, with the first attack on the Dardanelles, and with the discussion in the Duma on the future of Constantinople. The agitation has never been revived, except very faintly at the time of the Italian intervention. It has rather been superseded by a German-inspired agitation upon the possibility of Russia being able to control the Black Sea and the Dardanelles in such a way that the wheat and the oil of Roumania will have to travel overland, while a cheap waterway is reserved exclusively for Russian products. No doubt, the one factor which will put all hesitations at an end is the concentration of German troops on the Hungarian border. If an invasion of Servia is begun, with the intention of advancing on Constantinople, we shall conclude that Bulgaria has accepted the terms offered by Turkey and the central Powers. It is difficult to believe that Servia will refuse the concessions of territory asked of her, so much does she depend on Bulgaria's neutrality, and so great are the rewards which she would gain from an Allied victory. If she does refuse the sequel will be a heavy penalty for the failure of the Allies to reconstitute the Balkan League before the beginning of the war. Their failure left the one State which could bring pressure to bear on the Turk smarting under a sense of injustice against three of its neighbours, and especially against Servia. Russian influence in Bulgaria failed at the critical moment, as British influence failed in Turkey. There is still hope that Bulgaria will resist the German invasion, and will see in the prospect of a German overlordship the final extinction of her independence. In any case, we can be confident that a German army sent to the assistance of the Turk would contain more than two hundred thousand men. It would certainly meet with that number of Italians, and would have to encounter the Servians, who were equal to a far greater Austrian army at the end of last year. We are told that the invasion will begin very shortly. It will certainly not begin unless Bulgaria has given her decision, and will then be resisted, as Mr. Garvin suggests, with all the might of the Allied forces in men and guns.

TO AVENGE HIS BROTHER.

BALMAIN BOY ENLISTS.

Immediately upon receiving official advice from the military authorities yesterday morning that his brother had died of wounds received in the brilliant charge of the 18th Battalion, Harry Jensen, the son of Mr. H. J. Jensen, builder and contractor, of Rowntree-street, Balmain, knocked off work, donned his coat, and proceeded to Victoria Barracks and enlisted.

The late Private Lawrence Francis (Larry) Jensen was a native of Townsville, 25 years of age, and came to Sydney with his parents in 1901. He was educated in Balmain, and on leaving school was apprenticed to the joinery trade, and became a prominent member of the Progressive Society of Carpenters and Joiners. He enlisted at the beginning of the year, and was for four months in the trenches. He was wounded on August

ROUMANIA PREPARES.

THE EAST.

RUSSIA'S PLANS.

The "Times" correspondent at Bucharest states that Austria and Germany are using every means to cause war between Bulgaria and her neighbours, while the Entente is trying to promote an understanding on the basis of Servian and Grecian concessions to Bulgaria. Competent experts expect that the German invasion of Servia will begin in a few days.

Sir Edwin Pears, who is recognised as an authority on Balkan affairs, says the key to the situation is an arrangement between Bulgaria and Servia.

A Rome message says that all Roumanian officers in Switzerland have been recalled. It is reported from Nish that all Servians abroad between the ages of 18 and 50 have been called to the colours.

It is stated in Petrograd that the Russian retirement will be continued with deliberation and tranquility until the Russians have reached an undisclosed position, where they have decided to make a firm stand. A German communique states that the Russians' stubborn resistance south-east of Kovno has been broken.

GALLIPOLI.

TURKISH REPORTS.

"ALLIES' ATTACKS REPULSED."

LONDON, Aug. 28.

Sheik-El-Idriis has arrived at Nice on his way to Rome. He hopes to conclude an agreement for the independent Principality of Yemen, and offers to fight the Turks.

A Frenchman, who has arrived at Paris from Turkey, says that the Germans have established three munition factories in Turkey, but all are inadequate. The Turks cannot prolong resistance after September 10, though every train from the north brings German officers, soldiers, and workmen.

A Turkish communique says: The enemy on Friday, after artillery preparation, made land and sea attacks at Anafarta, against our right wing, near Kireschnepe. Three attacks on our centre were made southward of Ahoakdere. All were entirely unsuccessful, and were repulsed with severe losses. Our artillery repeatedly hit a cruiser, and damaged a transport tug. There was repeated bomb-throwing on our right wing at Ari Burnu on Friday night, and artillery and infantry fusillades at Sedd-ul Bahr.

SUBMARINES.

AMERICA AND GERMANY.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.

The Berlin correspondent of the United Press Agency says the Foreign Office is unalterably opposed to submarine attacks, such as the Arabic case, and Herr Von Jagow and Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg took the initiative with Mr. Gerard, American Ambassador. The nature of the negotiations is still unknown to the German public. Despite the German Admiralty's open opposition to any disavowal of any desire to injure American citizens, it is expected the German Emperor will approve of Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg's policy, placing on record that Germany will observe international law in sea warfare, and will insist that submarine commanders must thoroughly warn vessels before shelling or torpedoing them.

Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg's victory will probably close all complications with America, including the Lusitania case. The Imperial Chancellor is deeply desirous of retaining the friendship of America.

The New York "Times" interprets Count Bernstorff's latest explanation to mean that Germany will not ask for any assurance that President Wilson will fulfil his pledge in the Lusitania Note, but will simply promise to discontinue the present submarine practice, and await American action. If President Wilson does not act Germany will resume her policy of naval "frightfulness."

CASUALTIES.

LONDON, Aug. 30.

The week-end casualty lists contain the names of 181 officers and 3406 non-commissioned officers and men.

EASTERN FRONT.

RUSSIAN PLANS.

RETREAT TO CONTINUE.

"WITH DELIBERATION AND TRANQUILITY."

PETROGRAD, Aug. 30.

A Russian communique says: The enemy southward of Vladimir-Wolinski is attempting to turn our right flank. We changed our position, under cover of fighting, northwest of Lutzk.

It is authoritatively learned from informed sources that the Russian retirement will be continued with deliberation and tranquility until the Russians have reached an undisclosed position, where they have decided to firmly stand. It is admitted that the Russians are resisting at Vilna, Grodno, and Bielostok only until the evacuation arrangements are completed.

Austrian advices received at Amsterdam state that the Russians have entirely evacuated Galicia.

The "Daily Mail" correspondent at Petrograd says the Ministry of Agriculture estimates the wheat crop at 571,000,000 bushels.

A German communique says the enemy's stubborn resistance south-east of Kovno has been broken. We are pursuing the Russians. We crossed the forest district eastward of Augustowo. We have reached the Dombrowo-Grodeck and Narewka line, also the sector eastward of the town of Narew. Prince Leopold is pursuing the enemy through Bialowieska Forest. General von Mackensen pushed the enemy to the vicinity of Kobrin.

An Austrian communique reads: Our successes at Vladimir-Wolynski and on the Zlota Lipa broke the enemy's resistance on a 250-kilometre front. Everywhere the Russians are retreating, and burning the villages. The number of prisoners has increased to 10,000. We occupied Zloczow, after it had been set on fire by the Russians.

THE ITALIANS.

AIRMEN BUSY.

ROME, Aug. 30.

An Italian communique says:—The Austrians destroyed some bridges and part of the railway in the Fondo Valley, Valsugana. One of our detachments on the Upper Isonzo attempted a sudden dash on a strong position on the summit of Monte Rombon, but, owing to difficulties of the ground and determined resistance of the enemy, who fought with guns, rifles, and grenades—even rollin; heavy stones—we captured only a few trenches. The enemy still holds the extreme summit.

The enemy started to repair the recently damaged aerodrome at Aisovitza, but our aviators dropped 120 bombs, hitting two sheds and damaging the whole camp; also causing fires. Although half an hour under fire from the enemy's batteries, the airmen returned safely.

ZEPPELIN RAIDS.

PUBLICITY QUESTION.

VALUE OF RETICENCE.

LONDON, Aug. 29.

Mr. A. J. Balfour (First Lord of the Admiralty) replies to a correspondent who asked why English reports of German air raids were meagre, while German narratives of the same events were rich in lurid detail, and asserting that German narratives were widely believed by neutrals, while the reticence of the censored British Press suggested the suspicion that the unpleasant truth had been deliberately hidden from a nervous public. Mr. Balfour quotes the Admiralty's announcement of the air raid on the east coast on the 10th, when one Zeppelin was afterwards destroyed off Dunkirk, and compares it with the following story in the "Deutsche Tages Zeitung," stating: "Our naval airships carried out attacks on fortified coast towns and harbours on the east coast of England. Despite strenuous opposition they bombed British warships in the Thames, the docks in London, the torpedo craft base at Harwich, and other important positions. A number of good results were observed. The airships returned safely from a successful undertaking."

WHY EXPLAIN THE BLUNDERS.

Mr. Balfour comments on the fact that if one story is true the other must be false, and why not explain the discrepancy—tell the world the way in which the Germans distort the facts? The reason is simple. Zeppelins attack at night time, preferably when there is no moon. When landmarks are elusive and navigation difficult errors are inevitable—sometimes of surprising magnitude. The Germans constantly assert, and may sometimes believe, that they dropped bombs on places they never approached. Why make their future voyages easier by explaining the blunders, since their errors are our gain—why dispute them? Let us learn what we can from the enemy, but teach him only what we must. This reticence is judicious.

It may still be asked whether reticence is not merely used to embarrass the Germans, but also to unduly reassure the British? What have the Zeppelins done? How ought we to rate them as weapons of attack? What can they do? I cannot prophesy the future method of warfare, which is still in its infancy, but I can say something of past results. It is unhappily certain they have caused much suffering among many innocent people. Even this result, with all its tragedy, has been magnified out of all proportion by ill-informed rumour. The Home Office states that during the past year 71 civilian adults and 18 children were killed, and 189 civilian adults and 31 children were injured.

Judged by numbers, the cumulative result of many successive crimes does not equal the single effort of the Lusitania's submarine, which, to the unconcealed pride of Germany and horror of the rest of the world, sent 1198 unoffending civilians to the bottom of the sea. The result is bad enough, and we may well ask what military advantage was gained at the cost of so much innocent blood. No soldier or sailor was killed or wounded. Only once has damage been inflicted which, by any stretch of language, could be described as of the smallest military importance. The Zeppelin raids have been brutal, but so far have not been effective. They have served no hostile purpose, moral or material.

WESTERN FRONT.

AIR RAID.

BY THE FRENCH.

SIXTY AEROPLANES USED.

PARIS, Aug. 30.

Sixty French aeroplanes dropped bombs in the forest of Houthulet last week, with excellent results. The forest is a vast military camp, a portion of which has been converted into a veritable town, with barracks full of troops and munition depots. All the camps are electrically lit.

When the aeroplanes were sighted the lights were extinguished. Anti-aircraft guns were used ineffectually, the moonlight rendering searchlights useless. Many aeroplanes made several journeys to replenish the supplies of explosives, of which four tons were thrown on the barracks and depots. Several explosions and a great panic were noticed.

The fight at Senlis with a German aviator, when an attempt was made to attack Paris, was short and swift. Captain Brocard headed off the German over a wood, and succeeded in getting exactly over him at a distance of sixty feet. A machine gun quickly did its work, and the Aviatik was ablaze. It fell almost perpendicularly. The pilot and observer were frightfully burned, and were probably dead before the fall. They had bullets through the head and chest. The villagers watching the fight cheered wildly, and presented Captain Brocard with a bouquet.

A communique states: Violent hand-to-hand fighting occurred at Marie Therese for the possession of mine craters. We remain the masters. We intensely bombarded the German trenches and work parties along the whole of the Lorraine front. Grenade and bomb fighting occurred at Metzeral. Our aeroplanes bombarded the railway station and encampment at Grandpre, and the encampments at Mon Cheutin and Lascon.

It is reported from Amsterdam that the Allies' aeroplanes bombarded the German lines at Bixschoote, dropping 100 bombs. Many occupants of the front trenches were killed and wounded.

NOBLE CAUSE.

GENERAL SMUTS' SPEECH.

POTSCHEFSTROOM, Aug. 30.

General Smuts (Minister for Defence), addressing the Transvaal Overseas Contingent recruits, said: "You are going to fight for a noble, holy cause. It is no campaign of revenge, but for the cause of freedom and liberty—a cause which has always been reckoned the greatest in the world's history. It is to be hoped that many more South Africans will come forward and help to bring victory to our arms."

JAPAN CONFIDENT.

ADMIRAL KATO'S VIEWS.

TOKIO, Aug. 30.

Admiral Kato, addressing a mass meeting of Constitutionalist Unionists in Kobe, claimed to represent the opinion of the majority of Japanese in foreseeing a complete victory for the Allies, and added that if afterwards Germany attacked Japan the latter was prepared to meet her with guns, ships, and men.

He denounced the Opposition attacks on the Okuma Administration. The latter had successfully solved important national questions, and maintained Japan's honour and dignity.

MUNITION WORKERS.

REDOUBLED EFFORTS.

LONDON, Aug. 30.

The "Daily Telegraph" says the Munitions Parliamentary Committee visited the munition works in five leading centres. A frank and friendly discussion on the need for redoubled efforts, especially in view of their comrades' patience and self-sacrifice in the trenches, stimulated the workers' enthusiasm. The visitors recognised the arduous work already achieved.

Correspondence reaching the committee testifies to the value of these meetings.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

A calmer feeling prevails in South Wales. Many meetings of miners held on Sunday favoured a continuance of work, pending a conference with the coal-owners.

Harvest prospects have much improved during the fortnight. The rain has ceased, and the shortage of labour has been minimised. Soldiers, old men, school children, and holiday-makers from the towns are assisting. New wheat dropped between 5s and 11s during the week.

A Johannesburg message says a foreigner from Delagoa Bay, who was arrested, confessed himself to be Sub-commander Carstanter, of the Koenigsberg. His colleagues entrusted him with their cash, amounting to £2000, and it was hoped he would be able to get through to Germany.

A Pretoria message states that Colonel Sir Charles Crew, director of recruiting, has announced that all infantry units are filled, the heavy artillery is full, and the field artillery is practically full.

Advertisements in the German newspapers urge the people to sell their foreign stocks, especially American, in support of the war loan, which is described as an excellent investment, as victory is now surer than ever.

Numerous fires on meat steamers from the River Plate are causing anxiety to underwriters, who suspect that they are not accidental, and have requested the owners to take greater precautions, otherwise they will raise the premiums.

It is reported from Paris that the Government has prohibited the exportation of all wines. It is understood that the Government wishes to keep all cheap wines for the troops, and will probably permit the exportation of the more expensive sorts.

Copenhagen advices state that the German authorities threaten stern measures if dressmakers do not adopt fashions requiring less material than the most recent modes.

The German propagandist campaign in Holland, says a Rotterdam message, has met with results similar to Dr. Dernburg's in America. The newspapers regard it as a mean action to steal and publish secret documents from the archives in Brussels, and the general opinion is that the campaign has proved the absolute correctness of Belgian diplomacy.

THE BALKANS.

CRITICAL ANALYSIS.

BY SIR EDWIN PEARS.

KEY TO SITUATION.

LONDON, Aug. 29.

Sir Edwin Pears, who resided in Constantinople for many years, and is a great authority on Balkan affairs, in the course of an interview, published in the "Daily Chronicle," says:—"If Bulgaria secures a promise from Servia and the Allies that Macedonia will be restored to her, I believe, despite King Ferdinand, who has Austrian leanings, she will come in. If she joins the Allies, Greece will follow. King Ferdinand is a born diplomat. He began life as an Austrian officer, and possesses vast estates in Hungary. He is very vain and ambitious, and I fear unscrupulous. The foreign policy, owing to the Bulgarian group system, is almost entirely in his hands. Nevertheless, Bulgaria, democratic in name, may become in a crisis like the present democratic in reality. King Ferdinand regards Bulgaria as the Prussia of the Balkans. I fancy he even once made preparations for his own coronation, as Byzantine Emperor in Saint Sophia. It would be a mistake to over-estimate the influence possessed by Royal families, but it must not be underestimated that at this moment in Roumania, Bulgaria, Greece, Sweden, and Russia there are strong pro-German elements in Court. Democracy, however, mostly takes a different view, and I am sure the Bulgarians, but for their chagrin over the second Balkan War, would long since have been with us.

"Regarding Greece, the Queen, who has great influence with King Constantine quite recently brought Greece within measurable distance of a revolution. M. Venizelos's concern to-day is rather how far he can rely on the army, which is not inclined to take great risks. M. Venizelos is in favour of conciliating Bulgaria, and for adequate compensation would perhaps surrender Kavalla. Had Greece joined the Allies originally, she would have had the province of Aiden, with Smyrna as capital. Even now, the abominable Turkish outrages on Greeks in Aivali make it certain that the Allies' success, if Greece supports them, implies a very large extension of territory in Asia Minor.

THE SOLUTION.

"The key to the situation is an arrangement between Bulgaria and Servia. If Servia surrenders Macedonia this will ensure the aid probably of Roumania and Greece. The King of Roumania, as a Hohenzollern, naturally looks towards Germany, but this in itself is insufficient to keep Roumania neutral. She, like Bulgaria, is somewhat afraid that Russia's success would imply the occupation of Constantinople, and consequently the transformation of the Balkans into Russian provinces. But the danger, from their standpoint, is less great than formerly. The German alliance with Turkey compels them to favour Russia rather than the Teutons. Roumania is populous, wealthy and powerful, and I am hopeful her relations with Bulgaria and Russia will soon enable her to participate in the war.

"Regarding Turkey's future—If the Dardanelles is forced she must leave Europe. She lost the Aegeans, and will lose part of Asia Minor. Adrianople will revert to Bulgaria. My solution would be to create Constantinople and the country surrounding the Sea of Marmora, the Bosphorous, and the Dardanelles into an international State, governed by an International Commission similar to Danubian, which has been so successful. Constantinople and the Dardanelles would be unfortified, inasmuch as the new State would be guaranteed internationally, and defences would not be necessary."

CALLED TO COLOURS.

The "Times" correspondent at Bucharest states that Austria and Germany are using every means to cause war between Bulgaria and her neighbours, while the Entente is trying to promote an understanding on the basis of Servian and Grecian concessions to Bulgaria. Competent experts expect the German invasion of Servia to begin in a few days.

A Rome message says that all Roumanian officers in Switzerland have been recalled.

All Servians from 18 to 50 years who are abroad have been called up.

A Nish official message states: We stopped the enemy's operations at the Island of Malastratcheva in the Danube, also at Iositchinabara, opposite Skela (on the Save, 22 miles west-south-west of Belgrade).

The "Daily Telegraph's" Bucharest correspondent learns that the Austrians are massing troops on the Servo-Roumanian frontier.

The Paris "Matin's" Sofia correspondent says that a protocol has been signed, whereby Turkey transfers to Bulgaria 10 kilometres of territory eastward of Enos, and also cedes Karagach Station. The frontier then runs to the eastward of Maritza. Difficulties in the direction of Midia are still unsettled.

FALLEN AUSTRALIANS.

Advices have been received announcing that the following have been killed in action or died of wounds:—

Major William Davidson, of Oatley.

Trooper A. W. Oakes, M.A., son of Archdeacon Oakes, of Kelso, Bathurst.

Sergeant Barry, son of Inspector Barry, of North Sydney.

Corporal H. T. M'Kern, of Mosman.

Trooper Gordon Flanagan, of Borambala.

Trooper Guy Kendall, of Bathurst.

Trooper Manning, of Dubbo.

PRISONERS MUTINY.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 29.

The "Reitch" states that the convicts at Kirin mutinied. Seventy guards and 100 prisoners were killed. One hundred guards were wounded.

A later message states that 120 prisoners were shot.

THE SPY SYSTEM.

Private James O'Hea, who was wounded in the Dardanelles, writing from a hospital in Egypt, mentioned that he received his wound whilst the 3rd Brigade was storming a hill. Speaking of impersonation of British officers by German spies, he says:—"After several volleys someone gave the order to cease fire, and word was sent back asking the name of the officer who issued the order. The spy said 'Colonel ——.' The very officer named was standing behind, and he simply drew his revolver, and shot the Hun. Another time we were going into the firing line after a spell, when a silly order came not to shoot till 8 o'clock. The Germans who undertake the job evidently don't mind losing their lives. When we first landed the place was full of spies, who seemed to know all our officers' names. Some say that on one occasion a spy stripped a New Zealander of his clothes, and actually went down to draw his rations. Prisoners say 'Turkey no fight to finish.' Two months ago they said they were short of ammunition, but are still going strong, playing the waiting game. The morning they blew up our trench they were asking what terms they would get if they surrendered. It was only a blind to gain time. At 2 o'clock up went our trench. We were trying to do the same to theirs, but they got in first. Fifteen of our fellows were buried alive. One cove worked his way out with his hands."

A meeting of Mayors of the metropolitan area, convened by Alderman Kurle, was held in the Local Government Association rooms yesterday, when it was decided that each Mayor should make efforts to secure recruits in his district, in order to take part in a combined recruit march, which was fixed for September 20.

The Premier has been advised that Mr. Arnold A. Houston, son of Mr. William Houston, C.M.G., is serving in South Africa with General Botha's forces.

Four members of the staff of Pitt, Son, and Badgery, Ltd.—Messrs J. Robinson, M. Kellett, A. Peach, and L. Hardy—who have joined the expeditionary forces, were farewelled on Friday evening. Mr. R. M. Pitt, on behalf of the staff, presented each recruit with a wristlet watch.

Mr. W. L. Cooper, of Killara, who is associated with the Society of Friends, left by the Miltiades on Saturday to place himself in the hands of that body for ambulance work wherever required.

Mr. A. Grafton Purves, who held a commission as lieutenant in the N.S.W. 4th Battalion, and went to England on account of impaired health, has been given a commission in the 9th Battalion, South Wales Borderers, stationed at Rhyl, North Wales.

The Petersham Glee Club entertained Messrs. A. Arnold, D. Bowhill, R. Cave, and O. Roberts, who have enlisted, and the Rev. W. T. Kench, president of the club, presented the guests with small mementos.

Last week the officers of the Federal Land Tax Department entertained at a smoke concert seven of the staff—Messrs. McPherson, Cook, Edgar, Norman, Wilders, Graham, and Hauenstein—who have enlisted. The chairman, Mr. A. W. Stephen, presented wristlet watches, a pocket camera, and a safety razor to the soldiers.

Mr. Stanley R. McGowen, an officer of the staff of the Legislative Assembly, was entertained at luncheon at Parliament House on Friday last, prior to his leaving for the front, and was presented with a wristlet watch, suitably inscribed. Mr. W. S. Mowle, Acting Clerk of the Legislative Assembly, made the presentation.

The Rechabite Society now has 284 members in active service with the Australian Expeditionary Forces. Their contributions are being paid by the society. Three members of the juvenile section of the order have enlisted.

On Saturday morning the staff of Messrs. Sandeman, Ltd., met at the offices of the company to bid farewell to Messrs. Ken. Smithers and Clarrie Corbett, who are leaving for the front. On behalf of the employees, Mr. Lubeck (manager) presented Messrs. Smithers and Corbett with gold wristlet watches.

Colonel A. Spain, V.D., who has resumed duty with the Corps of Australian Engineers, served many years previously with the corps, and devoted much of his time to military work and maintaining the efficiency of the Engineers.

Mr. G. S. Kingsell, of C.S.R. Company's Fiji staff, has sailed for England, where he intends to enlist. He hopes to find service as an interpreter with the Indian troops on the Continent.

At a musical evening held at the School Hall, Pyrmont, Mr. J. Rose, on behalf of the employees of Goodlet and Smith, Ltd., Pyrmont, presented wristlet watches to Messrs. B. Weeks, J. Lippiatt, J. Nicholls, G. Lawrence, T. Sullivan, J. Hammond, D. Milne, J. Murphy, D. Campbell, R. Tibbey, C. Jarvis, P. Williamson, and J. Ward, who have enlisted.

Alderman J. M. Sandy received a cable yesterday informing him that his son, Lieutenant J. Lionel Sandy, of the 1st Field Artillery, who has been invalided to England, after a severe illness in Egypt, was in the "Third London General Hospital," and was improving.

The staff of J. Johns and Sons gathered on Friday to present Mr. Clarrie Feeney with a wristlet watch and wallet, etc., on his departure for the camp, prior to going to the front.

BANK AT THE CAMP.

As from September 1, a branch of the Commonwealth Bank of Australia will be opened at the depot orderly room of the Liverpool Depot, A.I.F., for the transaction of all general and savings bank business. The present agency of the Savings Bank, which has been located opposite to No. 1 shed for some time, will be transferred to the new site also on that day. The Commonwealth Bank is offering special facilities to members of the Expeditionary Forces, and has prepared for distribution descriptive leaflets setting out information in regard thereto.

AUSTRALIAN GALLANTRY.

The Premier has received the following telegram from the Premier of Victoria, Sir Alexander Peacock:—"Victoria is proud to congratulate you on the splendid gallantry displayed by the soldiers of your State in the recent engagement at Lonesome Pine, as another evidence of the heroic spirit which is now regarded as characteristic of Australians."

PARCELS FOR TROOPS.

The postal authorities notify that, as there is no packet post between this country and Egypt, postal articles (other than newspapers) intended for Egypt are transmissible only as letters or as parcels. The rate for letters addressed to Egypt is 1d per 4oz, or fraction thereof. For parcels and newspapers addressed to members of the Expeditionary Forces there are special rates as follow:—Parcels: 1s up to 3lb, 2s from 3lb to 7lb, and 3s from 7lb to 11lb. Newspapers (one only to be in each wrapper): For each paper up to 16oz, 1d.

MINERS FOR THE FRONT.

KURRI KURRI, Monday.

An enthusiastic recruiting meeting was held at Weston on Sunday. Addresses were delivered by Mr. Kearsley, M.L.A., Mr. D. Ryan, Captain Dalton, and Mr. J. Powell. Forty-eight miners handed in their names.

IN THE COUNTRY.

Reports received by the Premier from country recruiting associations up to noon yesterday showed that a further 135 men had been enlisted. This brings the total enlistments by the associations to date to 4968.

The 135 recruits were supplied by the following centres:—Taree 1, Muswellbrook 2, Fernmount 9, Burren Junction 1, Uralla 1, Gloucester 2, Lawrence 2, Emmaville 4, Junee 7, Warialda 1, Moree 2, Tumbarumba 1, Wyalong 2, Raymond Terrace 2, Bathurst 6, Orange 6, Brewarrina 1, Woodstock 1, Lockhart 2, Narrandera 1, Barraba 2, Corowa 1, Cooma 3, Gundagai 2, Windsor 2, Tamworth 4, Yass 2, Albury 1, Raymond Terrace 11, Moree 1, Robertson 1, Tamworth 4, Gulgong 1, Wellington 1, Glen Innes 2, Cangai 2, Adelong 7, Ulmarra 2, Byron Bay 6, Bowral 1, Cowra 2, Wolumla 2, Hay 1, Mittagong 3, Inverell 4, Tumbarumba 1, Port Macquarie 2, Port Kembla 1, Parramatta 5, Leeton 2, Denman 1, Forbes 4, Peak Hill 7.

On Saturday 18 volunteers who presented themselves were declared fit. This made a total of 490 to date. Four men presented themselves this morning, and a big batch is expected this evening from the west.

It was reported last week that the tallest recruit to date had come from Maitland, his height being 6ft 5in. Lithgow has now topped the record, in-as-much as last week a recruit from Canowindra named Howells joined. His height is 6ft 5½in. Another recruit named Whitney, who also hails from Canowindra, is 6ft. 5in.

BULLI, Monday.

About 20 men have been despatched to Sydney through the local police authorities for the Liverpool camp during the last few weeks.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—As the Board of Health recruiting depot is such a great success, why not open more night depots in other parts of the city? And why does not the Government pass a conscription measure, the Act to come into force on January 1, 1916, so as to give the recruits ample time to come under the colours without compulsion? I am, etc.,

WOUNDED HEROES.

FROM GALLIPOLI.

A STIRRING WELCOME.

GRAPHIC STORIES OF BATTLE.

It is only four months since April 25—that great day on which, as Colonel Howse, V.C., wrote last week, Australia became a nation.

Already we have welcomed three contingents of sick and wounded soldiers; but the toll of war must be paid. Our hearts beat faster at the thought of what we can do for them; how we can show them our lasting appreciation. Blind they may be; maimed, halt, or sick. They are our boys. We sent them away with a blessing and a God-speed, and now it is our chance to show them what we feel. Sydney did some showing yesterday, and Sydney will welcome every opportunity to take her brave sons back into the embrace of their homeland.

Nearly 200, including about 40 Queenslanders, passed through Sydney streets yesterday morning, en route to the No. 4 Military General Hospital at Randwick. A liberal supply of motor cars and ambulances was available, enough, in fact, to take many more soldiers than were disembarked. The route of the procession, from the wharf at Woolloomooloo Bay to the Oxford-street junction at Darlinghurst, was lined with an enthusiastic crowd. The cheering and the waving of flags and handkerchiefs were incessant. Here and there along the route a still deeper feeling was noticeable. There were many in those crowds who could not cheer. Their loved ones were in those cars, sick or maimed; or there were loved ones at the front, perhaps, already announced in the casualty lists; some, perhaps, lying in graves somewhere on that peninsula where Australia's real nationality was born. Cheering, it somehow, to these, seemed incongruous. It would have been easier to weep.

Yes, Australia has felt the toll of war. But Australia's spirit is not broken. For every hundred casualties we have suffered, we have recruited a thousand to take their places in the firing line. The wounded themselves would go back again to the firing line were they able; the parents of these brave boys would willingly give more sons to the Empire's call did they have them to give.

Bedecked with wattle blossom, the soldiers maintained that sturdy cheerfulness throughout the procession which has marked the Australian troops in all their fighting. There were some bad cases. Vigorous, young lives permanently blighted. Sturdy, handsome frames shattered by shot and shell. Here a useless arm; there a battered leg, the tops of the crutches poking out at the back of the cars. Three cases there were of total blindness—the unkindest cut of all. Yet all seemed to vie with one another in an effort to convince the crowds that they were as happy as sandboys. Conspicuous in the procession was the first New South Wales soldier to win the Distinguished Conduct decoration. Just a little bit of ribbon on the breast, but what a tale it told. Corporal Robson smiled his acknowledgments to the crowd, while in his hand, silk Australian flag waved from the front of his sun helmet. The men with only one good arm waved it gladly in recognition of the plaudits of the people, and there seemed to be a conspiracy to hide the injured member so that the crowd could not see. One soldier struck a note which was eagerly taken up, by wearing, throughout the procession, the red skull cap, with tassel complete, of some vanquished Turk. Three blind men wore heavy coloured glasses. The crowds did not know they were cheering the men who had literally given the light of their lives in the sacred service of the Empire.

So, the third batch of sick and wounded soldiers were welcomed to Sydney. Some there were who have not been in action. Sickness has laid some of our men aside, and they have been unable to get back to the firing line. But they are heroes, nevertheless. The sunny, recuperative climate of their native land may yet restore them to a sturdy physique. "There is not much hope for me, I'm told," said one of these. "But as sure as eggs, if I do get well in time, I'll have another try to get into the firing line."

Arrived at the Randwick Hospital, the men were given further proofs of their welcome home. Here, after they had been registered and examined by the doctors, their relatives and friends had a chance to take them in charge for a while. There was a big crowd at the gates, cheering each car as it moved in. Struggling through the crowd was a grey-haired, elderly lady. Her aim was plainly to get through the gate. "Do you belong to the Red Cross?" came the query, in the gruff, official notes of a policeman who kept the crowd back. "No, but I do want to see my son," was the trembling, yet proud reply. No man could resist such an appeal as that. The old lady got special permission to go through.

This shipload of 200 "boys of the Dardanelles" has been welcomed home. There are many more shiploads to come. Sydney awaits the opportunity to treat them all equally well. As the Premier has said: "The whole public spirit of Australia is pledged to look after these soldiers of ours, who come back to us bearing the honourable scars of battle."

THE LANDING.

SCENES ON THE WHARF.

When the steamer drew in to No. 1 wharf at Woolloomooloo Bay, at 9.45, as many of the men as could hobble were at the ship's rail, waving and cheering demonstratively at the joyous prospect of once more setting foot on their native soil. The shouts of gladness were hushed for a moment while the sweet strains of "Home, Sweet Home," played by the military band, floated through the air; but, the mood changing with the tune, they cheered again when the band struck up "Advance, Australia Fair."

It was difficult to imagine, seeing the smiling faces at the ship's side, that these men were being returned, in most cases, as unfit for further military service. But later on, when one walked amongst them on deck, and got them to talk of their hurts, the only marvel was that they could smile at all. The injuries were, generally speaking, of a much more serious nature than those sustained by the contingent which returned by the Ballarat. There were more crutches in evidence, and the difficulty of struggling around the deck and down the gangway to the waiting motor cars told upon the strength of the afflicted soldiers. One poor fellow, whose drawn and haggard features told of dreadful suffering, and who had apparently lost the use of one leg for all time, while also injured in the other, was still able to express gratification at having been for six days under fire before getting shot by a sniper. "He got me right through the lower part of the body, from side to side," he said. "Some of the chaps got 'outed' within half an hour of landing, so I suppose I was lucky. But fancy training for nine months for six days of the real thing."

Others, equally badly wounded, bore themselves with fortitude, and it was noticed that whenever a man was unable to get about too well, there was always a comrade close at hand, ready with assistance, who had obviously acted as his right-hand man through out the voyage. The most touching instance of this spirit of fellowship was given by three blind New South Welshmen, who came down the gangway in single file, with hands on each other's shoulders, and led by a man with his arm in a sling. They entered the car together, to the accompaniment of cheers from the onlookers, and the man who led them, as he turned away, said: "It'll break them up when they have to part. They've been the best 'pals' on board—never out of each other's hearing the whole trip."

And these were the men—these and others, whose hurts are also grievous—who, just a few months ago, sailed away from our fair land, strong in courage, and full of the joy of living. We welcomed them as they deserved to be welcomed.

The work of disembarking the soldiers was carried out expeditiously. The Chief Secretary (Mr. George Black), in the absence of the State Governor and the Premier, conveyed a message of welcome to the officer in charge, after which the 33 Queenslanded men were allowed ashore, and left by car for Randwick. The New South Wales lot followed, and by 11 o'clock the boat was cleared of soldiers. On the wharf, amongst others, were the State Commandant, Lieut.-Colonel Robertson, Mr. C. G. Wade, and Mr. Meek, M.L.C., the latter having a son on board. The traffic arrangements were under the direction of Inspector Mitchell and his assistants, and members of the Police Military Guard were present in force.

As each soldier landed he was handed cigarettes, matches, and sweets by ladies on the wharf, and most of the men when they left for Randwick were bedecked with sprigs of wattle, distributed amongst them before they disembarked.

Only one jarring note was struck, and that was when the food given them on the trip was referred to. Most of those spoken to expressed dissatisfaction with the treatment, in this respect.

The motor-car owners of Sydney again responded nobly to the call made on them, and 200 cars—far more than were required—were available for the transport of the wounded men. The route from the wharf was through New, College, and Oxford streets, and along the while distance a crowd had gathered early and remained until the last car had passed to cheer the warriors home. One heard, here and there, criticisms concerning the absence of triumphal arches; but the general feeling was that useless ornamentation was unnecessary, and would not be appreciated by men who wanted to get to Randwick, interview the doctor, and then get away to their friends as quickly as ever possible. There was certainly no abatement in the enthusiasm of the crowds, and when a familiar face was espied, and greetings were exchanged, everyone in the neighbourhood seemed to partake of the excitement. By 11 the last car had passed, and the crowd began to disperse. A special service of trams was run from the Quay to Woolloomooloo Bay, and altogether the traffic arrangements could not have been bettered.

AT THE HOSPITAL.

SPLENDID ARRANGEMENTS.

If all that the letters and cables tell us is true we have only touched the fringe of our wounded yet. They have come in scores, it is true, but they have yet to arrive in hundreds, and even thousands. Ours is the duty to see that they want for nothing, and nowhere has this duty been more thoroughly carried out than at No. 4 General Hospital, Randwick, where the wounded and sick were conveyed as soon as they landed.

Inside the hospital all was bustle and activity, but at the same time everything was in perfect order, and everyone knew his or her job. Shortly after 9 o'clock Lieutenant-Colonel G. Lane Mullins and Major Frank Wall arrived, and inspected all the arrangements, and received reports from the resident medical officers and matron. The big recreation room, which by the way has proved such a boon to the earlier contingents of wounded and sick, was turned into a reception-room for the New South Wales contingent, and it certainly looked inviting enough. With the exception of its stage and the two billiard tables, it was filled with lounge chairs in order rows; the tables where the doctors would deal with the various cases were bright with many-coloured sweet peas, and big pot palms made a restful with their restful green leaves. All the electric lights had been turned on, and several electric radiators helped to spread a grateful warmth through the room. On the other side of the entrance the big dining-room had been turned into a regular banquet hall. Overhead flags fluttered, while the tables were set off with flowers and palms.

Not less inviting was the feast of good things provided by the ladies of the Red Cross Society. Motor after motor arrived laden with good things, which might tempt a sick man's appetite, and it was not long ere tables were carrying a load of delicacies.

Needless to say Matron Veenmann and her staff of nursing sisters had the wards ready for those whose misfortune it might be to miss the reception accorded their comrades in arms. Flowers were everywhere in these wards, and the beds looked almost as inviting as the tables in the dining hall. On the lawn in front of the main hospital building a number of convalescent patients who had previously arrived were sitting in deck chairs in the sun, smoking and speculating as to whether they would know any of the men momentarily expected to arrive.

Just before 11 o'clock a cheer announced that the first of the returned men was in sight. Three motor ambulances, the Randwick St. John, the Civil, and a big A.A.M.C. rolled in with the cot cases. These were immediately taken out by tender hands, and removed to the wards, where they were received by the matron of the nursing sisters, and placed in bed. Hardly had the last cot case been disposed of than a waving of flags and handkerchiefs denoted the arrival of those who could at least sit up. Salvos of cheers ran down the crowd in the street kept back by a large body of police, under Superintendent Jones, of Paddington (an old soldier himself who fought through the first Egyptian campaign), and a number of cars slowly swung into the grounds and drew up to the steps, where the staff was waiting to receive the men. The uniforms of the nursing sisters, with scarlet capes, white aprons, and blue dresses made pleasing splashes of colour against the dull khaki of the staff, and the returned soldiers seemed to have more eyes for the sisters than anyone else. "We've a big debt to pay the sisters who looked after us in Egypt," said a big Queenslander, who had lain for weeks in Heliopolis. "I've got a real working notion of what angels are. Ask the other chaps, they'll tell you the same."

As the Queenslanders arrived they were taken straight to the dining rooms, and told to make themselves at home. Out came pipes and cigarettes, and the men were soon chatting away as lively as sand boys. Wounds were forgotten in the warmth of the reception. No sooner were all the Queenslanders in than the diet carts containing their savoury loads were wheeled in, and hot soup, steaming meats and puddings galore (the latter having been provided by Mrs. Jopp and Mrs. C. Wade), not to mention fruit, made their appearance as by magic on the distinctly-arranged tables, and the men sat down to such a meal as they had not had since before they first left these shores. Not only did the ladies of the Red Cross provide many of the good things, but they waited on the men, and saw that no man left his seat until he had had all that he desired.

Hardly had the last of the Queenslanders been attended to than a great roar from the crowd heralded the approach of the New South Wales contingent. At the gate stood a number of wounded who had come by one of the earlier boats, and they cheered their returning comrades lustily as did the crowd. Red Cross flags decorated each car, and the occupants were half smothered in golden wattle bloom, sweet peas, and other fragrant flowers.

But it was a pathetic sight, these once strong men as trickled down long before their prime. Out of the first big car came three overcoated men, wearing black glasses. One will never see again. The others can just tell the difference between light and darkness.

As each one arrived he was helped with kindly hands into the reception room, and gave his name, and stated what he was suffering from, whether wounds or sickness, and was plied with ammunition and water, and so I took it on. The despatch stated that I was to be decorated for conveying ammunition and water to the troops under heavy fire, and for taking charge of 50 men of the 4th Battalion and inflicting heavy losses on the Turks. I've got the ribbon but have not received the medal yet. That'll come later on, I suppose."

OTHER STORIES.

Sergeant T. Johnston, C Company, 13th Battalion, who is from Jervis Bay, said he was in the early landing and "stuck it" till May 28. "The continued strain in the trenches, often in mud or water," he said, "played up with my health. I got a rap over the leg with a bullet, too, and then the constant kneeling caused rheumatism in my right knee. I got worse and worse. Anyhow, I got so bad that the boys took me out of the trenches for dead, but they found out their mistake in time, and here I am."

Sergeant-major H. M. Knight, A Company, 13th Battalion, told of his experiences at the front. He was also in the first landing and fought his way inland with the troops till on May 29 they found themselves at Quinn's Post. "It was not an ideal spot for a picnic," he went on. "You see, it was not far from Pope's Hill, and between the two spots lay a track of ground known as Dead Man's Land from the fact that it was covered with dead Turks. Our trenches were really only a few yards from the Turkish trenches, and both sides started to do some mining. They got in first and touched us off. Then they got in some fancy work with bombs and hand grenades, and how any of us came alive is a mystery to me. Many of us were blown up in the explosion, and the falling debris accounted for others. I took a trip skywards, and when I struck solid ground again I was suffering badly from concussion."

"He's one of my boys," proudly remarked Sergeant Pitt Buckleton, who has done so much as an honorary recruiting agent among the sports of Kensington, pointing to Corporal Percy Myers, of A Company, 4th Battalion, who was moving along on crutches in the grounds of the hospital, surrounded by several girls. The corporal was all smiles and cheery words, though his feet encased in gymnasium shoes dragged along the ground. He was another of those who had gone away lightheartedly in the 4th Battalion and had seen that battalion almost decimated in carving Australia's name high on the honour roll of military nations. "No, I'm not wounded, you might say," said the corporal, "not with bullets or shells, or even bombs. I'm just a break-up owing to having been on duty when the Turks decided to explode the sap I was in at Quinn's Post. After that 'the subsequent proceedings interested me no more' until I came to on a boat being taken out to a transport. I heard, however, that when the Turks blew us up I was buried under what was left of the trench and dug out, while the Turks were pouring a perfect hail of bombs on our boys. As a result of that blowing up I'm pretty well paralysed. You never know your luck, and it's all in the game."

A remarkable escape from death was experienced by Sergeant E. K. Bedwell, of the Queensland 9th Infantry. The sergeant had just finished cleaning a machine gun in the early morning, when he was struck by a bullet on the side of the head, and it ploughed a circular course for two inches. He was conscious while being removed to the boat, but shortly after reaching there became unconscious, and five days later he awoke to the fact that he had had concussion of the brain. Three weeks later he was removed to the hospital ship, and made a splendid recovery. But for the fact that his right arm is somewhat paralysed, the sergeant is almost well again. He was full of admiration for the kindness of the English visitors at Cairo, and the attention paid to the Australians was, in his opinion, wonderful.

Private A. Jones, of the 1st Field Ambulance, a resident of Summer Hill, went with the first landing contingent on the memorable April 25, and he stayed in the trenches until June 30, when he lost his right eye. He expressed his confidence that the Australians would more than hold their own. When he left both sides were playing a waiting game. The Turks were singing "It's a long way to Constantinople," but those who had been taken prisoner admitted that it was the general belief that Constantinople would be taken in due course. The Turks were fair fighters, and not without some humane feeling. Many a time he had seen a Turk's bottle left alongside one of our wounded. If it were not for the Germans, who drove the Turks out of the trenches, the task of forcing the Dardanelles would be easier.

Private W. M'Gruen, C Company, who was wounded above the ankle a few days after the original landing, also described the Turks as fair fighters. For the first week they had quite as much to say as the Australians had, but the latter were now gaining the upper hand daily.

Private G. J. Whalan, of Hillgrove, said he had been for 13 weeks in hospital, but would now get about with the aid of crutches. He took part in the original landing, and two days later received a compound fracture of the thigh. He penetrated about four miles inland. "You cannot praise the Australians too much for their bayonet work," he said. "The Turks are a fine body of men, all big men, but they are clear out when they see the bayonet. If it were not for the German officers the Turks would be no good. Those of them taken prisoner declared quite freely that they were defeated. They declared also that the Australians would eventually get to Constantinople." Private Whalan added that he himself "held a receipt" for two Turks.

Corporal J. Pacey, of Queensland, who is wounded in the thigh and foot, said the Australians were up against a tough job, and would have to be strongly and regularly reinforced.

Private J. M. Hawke, 2nd Light Horse, of Queensland, who was five weeks in the firing line, expressed his belief that we would get to Constantinople in a month or two.

RECEPTION AT NEWCASTLE.

NEWCASTLE, Monday.

Thousands of persons thronged the station to-night to see the 30 wounded soldiers who were passing through on the mail train to Queensland. The island platform opposite to the one the mail train arrived at was also packed, as well as the overhead bridge, while hundreds of persons had to remain outside the station. As the train steamed in the crowd cheered enthusiastically. The returned soldiers were welcomed by the Mayor, and refreshments were provided by the local Red Cross Society.

Seven of the men who left the Brisbane mail here were given a great reception. One man, as he was carried out on the shoulders of his father, was cheered time after time. A few minutes later another Newcastle lad came out on crutches, and the same enthusiasm again prevailed. The other five men arrived by the second division of the mail. The arrangements for the convenience of the returned soldiers were splendid. After having refreshments on the railway station they were conveyed to their homes in motor cars.

THE GOVERNMENT AND THE EARLY CLOSING OF BARS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Mr. Holman has virtually promised "time" in Parliament for the full consideration of a bill to legalise the totalisator. He will not accept any responsibility for such a bill, but will see that any member who may introduce it shall "not be left with his work incomplete at the end of the session." The Government controls the "time" of the House, and no private member is likely to succeed without such a concession as that now to be given the totalisator. It is so easy for an opponent to talk a measure out.

I plead for fair play and justice. If it be right to allow time for such a measure, it is infinitely more so to give it for a bill to close liquor bars at 6 o'clock instead of 11. Has there not been ten or twenty times more public agitation on its behalf? Have not important public bodies, such as the Labour Conference, Women's Liberal League, and others, declared for it? Have there not been scores of public meetings in support of it, including two that each packed the Sydney Town Hall? The biggest petition—and honestly got up—having 143,700 signatures, and others, with many thousands of names, have been presented to Parliament in its favour. Is there not also outside moral support in the drastic restrictions as to intoxicants that the war has caused in Britain, France, Russia, and elsewhere?

I challenge anyone to prove that any other political movement has this year shown the same strong demand for Parliamentary action as this. As the totalisator is to be specially favoured, the very least that the Government can do is to concede time for the drink question also. Indeed, in view of the wide and earnest agitation, it should do so irrespective of any other measure.

Mr. Thomas Brown has his motion for earlier closing before Parliament, and the Government, I maintain, should see that time is given for its full consideration, and, if carried, time and facilities again for the short bill required to make it law.

I am very confident that the 6 o'clock shutting of bars, like shops, will vastly improve the moral and social life of the country. I claim fair play and justice for this important movement, and no stifling. I venture to think that a Government that opens the door for the consideration of the totalisator, and closes it to the liquor question, will bear an unenviable reputation in history, but I hope that Mr. Holman's sense of fair play and justice will save it from any such trouble.

I am, etc.,
F. B. BOYCE,
President N.S.W. Alliance.

CASUALTIES.

SEVENTY-FIRST LIST.

66 DEATHS.

The 71st list of casualties sustained by the Australian troops in the Dardanelles was issued last night, and contains 697 names. One officer and six men have been killed in action, four officers and 44 men have died from wounds, and seven officers and four of other ranks from other causes. This list of wounded is a big one, totalling 18 officers and 516 men, 42 of this number being serious cases.

FINANCIAL.

THE WAR LOAN.

The announcement is made by the Commonwealth Treasurer that the rate of tax on stock-holders' income from sources other than the loan will not be increased by reason of the fact that he receives interest on his portion of the loan. This is a logical outcome of the fact that income tax is not chargeable on the interest, and means that that is in no way included, nor has it any influence on the taxable income. As an example, it may be stated that next year if of a man's income of £1500 £500 is derived from the war loan, and £1000 from other sources, then he will be taxed on £1000 at the rate which £1000 would bear. He would not be taxed on £1000 at the rate which £1500 would bear. There is now no doubt reading between the lines of announcements made on behalf of the Commonwealth Bank that the first instalment of five millions will be oversubscribed. Allotment will be made in full, and everything over the amount subscribed will be taken. There should be no hesitation about taking part in the subscriptions now at the last moment, because every pound subscribed will be taken. All who can do so owe it as a duty to the Commonwealth to subscribe.

PRIOR RIGHTS OF THE CROWN.

A question asked in the Legislative Council last week regarding the prior rights of the Crown in cases of debt due to it by a bankrupt raises an important subject now that the State has entered into regular trading business in competition with its own citizens. Mr. F. E. Winchcombe asked:—

Is it a fact that in cases of bankruptcy debts due by a bankrupt to the State Joinery Works or to any other State trading concern take priority over all other debts on the general ground that they are debts due to the Crown?

To this the answer was yes.

Mr. Winchcombe then asked:—

If so, will the Government take into consideration the advisability of altering the law so as to remove this unfair preference over private traders?

To this the representative of the Government replied:—

It is not intended to introduce amending legislation of the character indicated.

At present, and the Government intends it shall remain so, a debt contracted with the State joinery works or the State brickworks, must be satisfied in case of bankruptcy before any other debts are eligible for a dividend. And if the assets are not sufficient, or only sufficient to pay the claims of the State trading establishment, then the other creditors go without. A similar question was raised, it will be remembered, soon after the constitution of the Commonwealth Bank in 1912. It was argued that if a customer could not pay a debt due to the bank, then the bank, as created by the Commonwealth Government, had a prior claim over its debtor's assets above other creditors. An opinion was sought from the Attorney-General who decided that in regard to such debts the bank stood on the same footing as any other trading bank, and had no prior claim. On this subject an illuminating extract from the judgment of the Chief Justice, Sir Samuel Griffith, in the case relating to the liability of cheques on the Commonwealth Bank to bear stamp duty, may be quoted. In that judgment the Chief Justice said: "The carrying on of ordinary banking business is not a function of the Executive Government of the Commonwealth conferred by the Constitution. It may be that the carrying on of such a business is not unlawful in the sense of being forbidden by law, but the liberty to do so cannot be regarded as anything more than a permissive faculty, permitted only in the sense of not being prohibited by positive law. The privilege of the State may very easily work to the detriment of the citizens. When a man is in a difficult position it often happens that a little latitude or a little assistance will extricate him from his difficulties. But when it is known that he is a debtor of the State other people will be loth to give him further assistance, because, by doing so, they would unduly imperil more of their funds.

AUSTRALIAN WAR EXPENDITURE.

With the raising of the first instalment of the war loan of twenty millions sterling—the list closes to-day—it becomes of interest to study the war expenditure already made, and the estimated expenditure to the end of the financial year, together with the means already taken to finance that expenditure. Up to the end of the financial year 1915-16 the estimate is for an expenditure of £60,542,410. Of this amount £14,793,060 was incurred in the first 11 months of war. The expenditure position may be given thus:—

1914-15—War expenditure.

Naval	£4,406,031
Military	10,386,929
1915-16—Estimated war expenditure.
Naval	7,589,450
Military	38,469,000
Total	£60,542,410

When we come to analyse the means taken to provide the money we at once find that at least a further loan of fifteen millions will be required beyond that already provided for. The British Government lent us £24,500,000, a small amount has come from Treasury Bills, and a small amount from revenue, as will be seen in the following table:—

1914-15—

War loan from British Government.	£14,100,000
Treasury Bills	311,905
From revenue	618,845
1915-16—
War loan from British Government.	10,400,000
Commonwealth war loan (to be raised)	20,000,000
Total	£45,430,750

The estimated yield of war taxes this year will be £4,687,000. Interest, sinking fund, and pensions absorb £1,805,000. The difference will go towards making good the deficiency in the ordinary revenue, on account of ordinary expenditure.

COMMERCIAL.

THE MARKETS.

A good distributing trade was done yesterday at generally unaltered levels. The hardware houses experienced a strong demand for all classes of harvesting requirements. Fencing wire cleared in average parcels. No. 8 black, on spot, was quoted at from £16/5/ to £16/10/, and No. 10 at from £15/15/ to £16. Quotations for future shipments of most lines of imported goods continue to advance. We learn by the last mail from America that two of the best-known clock companies in the United States have advanced their rates by almost 10 per cent., "owing to the increased cost of materials," while "wringers have moved up almost 16/ a dozen." Speaking with regard to another well-known American firm, the same correspondent says: "Owing to the heavy and continuous advances in material, and the increased manufacturing costs, all prices are withdrawn." One of the best known small arms companies in America reports that a "general advance in prices has become effective."

Our cables yesterday announced an increase in the forward quotation for linseed oil, but there was no alteration in values on spot. The best imported brands were sold at 4/4 and 4/6 a gallon. There was a strong inquiry for Australian oil. Raw, in cases, brought 3/9 a gallon. The market for turpentine was dull, and showed no sign of improvement. First brands were to be had at from 3/10 to 3/11, and second brands at from 3/8 to 3/9 a gallon. It was asserted that in America bottom prices had been about reached, and that the market held steady, with the prediction that a higher level of prices would prevail later on. There was no movement in whiteleads.

A few orders were to hand from the country for cornsacks, and one or two small lots of August-September shipment were sold at from 8/3 to 8/4 net to rails. A parcel of 100 bales was sold to Brisbane at the higher figure. There was practically no demand for spot stocks, and supplies ex the Umaria, due in Sydney this week, were offered at the same price as August-September shipment. Holders of branbags were firm, at 7/3 net to rails. A small business was passing in woolpacks at 2/9 net. Some of the packs recently discharged by the Orissa were damaged by salt water, and will probably be sold by public auction.

The advent of warmer weather has caused a shrinkage in the consumption of breakfast foods, but owing to the high cost of raw material, prices for the finished article are well maintained. Oatmeal in 7lb bags was worth 29/6 per cwt. For rolled oats in 5lb bags, up to 18/ a dozen was wanted. Rice was unchanged. Locally-dressed brought from £19/5/ to £21/5/ a ton, according to grade. Spices and seeds were firm.

The amount of wool manifested to arrive at Darling Harbour yesterday was 2138 bales.

INTERSTATE MARKETS.

ADELAIDE, Monday.

Wheat quiet, more or less nominal, for milling parcels. Flour is firm at £18 net Port Adelaide, £18/10/ delivered. Bran, 1/8 net Port Adelaide; pollard, 1/7½. Millers still ask up to 1/6 for bran, and 1/9 for pollard delivered in Adelaide. Oats are dull around 2/6; barley around 4/; chaff, £8 to £8/6/ on trucks at Mile End, including bags. Cornsacks are steady at 8/6, spot lots; branbags, 6/9 to 7/-.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

To-day's quotations were:—Wheat, 8/1½; flour, £17; bran is unsalable, the nominal quote being £8/5/; pollard, £9/5/. Oats are quiet, Algerians and Chili, 2/9 to 4/3. Japan are irregular, with better inquiry at 2/6 to 2/10. Maize is steady at 4/6 to 4/6½. Chaff is quiet and easier at £10/10/ to £10/15/; wheaten straw chaff £4 to £5; oaten up to £5/10/. Victorian straw is quiet at £3/15/ to £4; Tasmanian, £6 to £6/10/. Potatoes are easier at £3 to £3/10/. Onions are steady at £6 to £6/10/. Butter was reduced 1d to 1/6. Moderate orders were booked for cornsacks for October-November delivery at 8/6½ to 8/7; branbags had buyers at 7/3; woolpacks are quiet at 3/3, all less discount. Tea is quiet. Tinned fish buyers are keen; salmon bookings are substantial.

BREADSTUFFS.

The overseas exports of wheat and flour from the port of Sydney for the week ended August 28, according to the Customs-house returns, were:—

Wheat (bushels): New Zealand, 10; New Caledonia, 3. Total, 13.

Flour (2001b bags): New Caledonia, 1403; South Sea Islands, 625. Total, 2028.

At Darling Harbour yesterday no wheat and 107 tons of flour were manifested to arrive.

BACON FACTORY CLOSING DOWN.

The bacon factory known as Hick's, Ltd., which was the first to start in the Richmond River district, and has worked uninterruptedly for 18 years, is to be closed down. The controllers estimate that they cannot work the plant and sell the bacon at 11d per lb, which is the price fixed by the Necessary Commodities Commission. "Unfortunately," said one of the principals, "as a result of the action of the Necessary Commodities Commission, in not increasing the price of bacon beyond 11d, coupled with the fact that we have had to pay as high as 8½d per lb for pigs at Lismore, we have been compelled to give instructions to close down the factory forthwith. It means a very big loss to us, and it also means throwing the men there out of work."

Continuing, he pointed out that there were places in this State wholly depending on the factory for supplies, and they had worked up a big trade. In a few weeks' time the stock would be exhausted, and they would not be able to replenish their supplies.

The arrivals of butter from the local-producing centres yesterday continued on the improve, but they were still below the normal amount forwarded; and the total consignments were still less than that required by the demand. Prices were on the basis established on Tuesday last. The Necessary Commodities Commission will meet on Wednesday next to consider the price of this produce, and it is extremely probable that there will be another fall in price, so as to bring the Sydney price in line with that of Brisbane. If this is so, the price will then be 1/3 a lb wholesale. Butter imported from Queensland, was offering in limited quantities only, due, no doubt, to the fact that importers could hardly place their produce on the retailers' hands at less than the proclaimed price. New South Wales supplies are increasing at such a rate as to cause a certain clearyness amongst importers. American butter had practically no support.

Bacon consignments were extremely curtailed, and everything points to the fact that it will remain scarce till either the price of bacon is raised or the pigs' value is considerably lowered. Pigs at the present time are costing almost as much as the bacon itself. Agents reported that they were from three to four weeks behind in their orders, and it was stated in a number of houses that there would be no fresh supplies till Thursday. Cheese stocks were also light, and were insufficient to cope with the strong demand. Another five or six weeks will pass before any improvement is noticeable in consignments of cheese. Lard was not so much in request owing to the increased number of pigs available, but supplies were also light, and prices were maintained at their old level.' No western honey was on the floors, but there was plenty of northern stuff, which, however, failed to attract much attention.

The egg market continued weak. The consignments of both new-laid and case varieties were very heavy, and the demand was by no means strong enough to keep pace with the inflow. The majority of the sales of new-laids was carried out at a dozen, but a few odd choice lots brought a penny more. Case lines were quoted straight out at /11. New-laid duck eggs were a penny cheaper at 1/2.

Quotations were:—

SPORTING.

THE TURF.

A race meeting takes place at Menangle Park this afternoon, and the bill of fare to be discussed promises interesting sport. Special trains leave the Central Railway Station for the scene of action at 10.30 (horses), 11.40, a.m., and 12.30 p.m. (passengers). The track is reported good going. The first race is timed to start at 2 p.m., and the last at 4 p.m., so that an early return to the city is assured.

The satisfactory total of 205 nominations was received yesterday for the half-dozen events on the card for Tattersall's Club Spring Meeting at Randwick on the 11th prox., distributed as under: Novice Handicap 47, Tramway Handicap 37, Chelmsford Stakes 37, Steeplechase 10, Spring Handicap 26, Welter Handicap 43. The entrants for the Chelmsford Stakes include a large percentage of horses engaged in the principal races of the spring racing campaign on both sides of the Murray, Victorian, Queensland, and New Zealand performers being included in the list. Reputation represents the Dominion's Victorian-owned horses include Kingsburgh, Woorak, Carlin, and Uncle Sam; Malt Mark acts on behalf of Queensland; and among the locally-owned contingent are Carlita, Canon Cetigne, Diva's Isle, St. Carwyne, Golden Hop, and Moultrie Knight. Imported horses are more numerous than usual, and include Coronore, Hecate, Red Dennis, Half-a-Glass, and St. Spasa. With such talent engaged, and in view of the big stakes provided for the w.f.a. brigade during the spring, the Chelmsford Stakes is invested with more than ordinary interest. The Spring Handicap also includes such performers as Aurifer, Firm, Ravello, Tartanus, Sir Alwyndon, Barlow, Diva's Isle, St. Carwyne, Nizam, Scotch Artillery, King Mostyn, and Sir Vive, while the sprinters engaged in the Tramway Handicap include Bob Bunsow, Woorak, Brattle, Bourreong, Tofua, Royal Laddie, Secret Service, Gigandra, First Principle, Golden Hop, Athenic, Lord Multifid, Istrian, and Giru.

The following race meetings have been granted registration by the A.J.C.:—Gilgandra Jockey Club Patriotic Meeting (October 27, 28); Walgett Grandstand Race Meeting (October 27, 28); Koorawatha Race Club Patriotic Meeting (September 29); Woodburn Turf Club (September 11); Kyogle Jockey Club (October 27).

P. Nailon, who brought Sea Pink and Delinda to Sydney last week, returns to Brisbane to-morrow with Soldier Man and Monolith, two young horses, the property of Mr. E. J. Watt, for whom Nailon trains in Brisbane.

W. P. H. (Darlinghurst).—The information for which you ask is included in the report of the race published in the "Herald" on the 23rd inst.

BILLIARDS.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

When play finished to-night the game between Fred Lindrum and Williams stood: Lindrum (in play), 9031; Williams, 7210.

BOXING.

McGUIRE BEATS EVERNDEN.

Mick M'Guire, of Victoria (10st 9lb), was too clever for Arthur Evenden (10st 9½lb), when the pair clashed for a small attendance at the Stadium last night, and knocked him out in the 20th round. M'Guire proved a quick, clean hitter, and much the better boxer, but his habit of continually running away or clinching made his display a disappointing one.

A WAY'S IN PITT-STREET.

THE

FASHIONS FOR SUMMER.

NEW

COATS AND SKIRTS.

"Now Showing in our Pitt-street Windows"
As we have said before, the New has its special charm, and that is particularly true of these
"NEW COATS AND SKIRTS."
Worth seeing, purely out of curiosity—if for no other reason. You will get definite ideas of what's what, and then you can proceed on sure ground with your summer plans.
Formerly the waist-line was a theoretical thing, much the same as the line in geometry. Now it is indicated very freely.
That in itself makes these Gowns utterly and well-nigh irresistibly feminine.
Then there are flounces, and frills and tucks—they are the veriest blossoms.
SHOWING TO-DAY IN OUR WINDOWS and COSTUME SHOWROOM.

32/6:—
ASSAM COAT and SKIRT.

MOTORISTS AND ENGINEERS TRY "CLEVER MARY"

to remove that grease, grime, tar, oil, varnish, and paint from your hands. It quickly banishes the most ingrained stains, and cannot injure the tenderest skin. All those nasties round the fingernails and joints vanish at once. There is positively nothing to equal "Clever Mary" for cleaning aprons, overalls, motor car hoods, and so on.
It is thoroughly effective, whether used with fresh, salt, warm, or cold water.
Always keep some in the workshop and in the home, too.
Its wonderful cleansing quality will surprise you. Get a tin to-day.
Remember, there is no substitute for "Clever Mary." If not in stock at your storekeeper's send your name and address, and a free sample tin will be sent you by The Paget Manufacturing Co., Ltd., 109 Regent-street, Sydney; who also make Sil-oleum.

WELCOME SPRING!

While the combatants in the war zones of Europe are apprehensive regarding the coming autumn, which will prelude another season of winter fighting, with all the attendant terrors of snow and ice in the Northern Hemisphere, we in this sun-kissed land are greeting the arrival of the loveliest period of the year, when Nature garbs herself in all her finery—when birds don their daintiest plumage wherein to go a-wooing; when a wealth of blossoms, rainbow-hued, greets the Great Orb each day, in welcome abandon, after his prolonged absence, and seeming neglect, through the dreary autumn blasts and piercing winter's cold. Truly blythesome season, which poets sing and artists paint, is once more here.

And woman, of course, turns with longing eyes to the feast of arrayed for her delectation at the Fashion Merchant's.

We cordially invite our Lady Patrons to visit our Showrooms at Central Square, and inspect the

MAGNIFICENT DISPLAY

of New Season's Goods.

Despite the horrors of the war, never were the

MATERIALS SO VARIED,
THE COLOURS SO RICH,
THE PATTERNS SO ARTISTIC,
THE GENERAL EFFECT SO CHARMING,

as they are in this Spring Season, 1915.

The dainty textures for Dress Materials, the Chic Millinery Models, the bewitching blossoms so faithfully reproduced, with all the sheen of the natural bloom, Parasols, Embroideries, Gloves; in fact, the whole outfit for this Spring Season can be safely summed up in the one word,

"ENTRANCING!"

LADIES! Come and see for yourselves. We promise you a treat.

OUR SPRING SHOW IS NOW OPEN.

ADMISSION IS FREE!

You'll find plenty to entertain you.
The exposition is enthralling.

EVERYBODY KNOWS THAT

GREEN COUPONS ARE BEST.

That is why we give them by way of Discount on Cash Purchases made in any Department of our Huge Store.

Our prices are at all times most reasonable, and when in addition you receive GREEN COUPONS as discount, the proposition is very alluring.
